

“We’re Making History...Again”™

For Immediate Release

AAH participates in launch of Western North Carolina Green Building Council’s 2009 Green Building Directory

Waynesville, NC (March 27, 2009) – Appalachian Antique Hardwoods, LLC participated in Western North Carolina Green Building Council’s most successful launch of their annual Green Building Directory since 2001. The launch was held on March 26, 2009 at Pack Place in Asheville, NC and with over 300 attendees, WNCGBC considers this year’s launch the best event ever.

WNCGBC’s 2009 Green Building Directory offers information about local green businesses and suppliers as well as articles and case studies, helping the growing number of businesses that offer green products and services a chance to communicate with those interested in sustainability on topics ranging from water conservation to energy efficiency.

Appalachian Antique Hardwoods has been a member of WNCGBC for several years and views WNCGBC’s mission to promote environmentally sustainable and health conscious building practices as an extension of AAH’s mission of being the leader in wood based Green Building Materials. Appalachian Antique Hardwoods, LLC is a North Carolina based company that provides the highest quality and most unprecedented selection of reclaimed, recycled, and renewable materials since 1994 – www.aahardwoods.com

Appalachian Antique Hardwoods offers over three thousand recycled products to architects, builders, interior designers, and homeowners. Their large client base provides Appalachian Antique Hardwoods a unique opportunity to use their experience as a vehicle to educate and promote the benefits of Green Building techniques while becoming environmental stewards. Each product contributes valuable points toward Leadership in Environmental and Energy Design (L.E.E.D.), NAHB Green Built, and Healthy Built certifications. Appalachian’s professionally green-certified staff has combined 200 years of experience and over 3500 successful reclaimed wood projects making them a premier leader for antique wood and reclaimed wood products throughout the country.

Appalachian Antique Hardwoods encourages you to learn how “We’re Making History...Again.”™ by experiencing how the natural beauty of wood can enhance the appeal of your existing or future home. Embrace a piece of America’s past and visit www.aahardwoods.com for additional information on their products, philosophy and detailed pictures of completed projects.